Kubi is the intuitive, affordable, next generation device that provides more engaging Customer Service and Customer Retention opportunities.

As a sub-set of business applications, Customer Service is an area where Kubi has unique advantages over conventional video conferencing. Kubi lets people easily look around remotely with 300 degrees of pan and 90 degrees of tilt to see and interact with customers and clients, through remote robotic control during a video call. The motion of Kubi combined with high quality video provides an engaging way to truly connect during telepresence interactions.

Kubi is controlled by intuitive apps that run on Apple and Android tablets. Kubi comes with a removable base for use on table and countertops and is designed with a universal camera mount to easily attach to tripods and carts.

Because Kubi is so affordable, units can be installed in many locations. One person can “teleport” from one location to the next on demand, multiplying their effectiveness many times over.

Kubi driven Customer Service is the next level of engaging telepresence that truly connects with customers in businesses large and small.
